Ulises Rosas is joining the TDECUCU Advisory Board and will partner with other Board Members to help navigate Members on their financial journeys by guiding policy and governance of the $4.5 billion credit union

"We are excited that Ulises, who has been a longtime Member of TDECUCU, has agreed to join us on the Board," said Richard Smith, TDECUCU Board Chair. "His extensive expertise in Business Development and Financial valuation will help drive us forward in service of our 360,000 Members."

Ulises currently serves in Business Development within BP's Gas and Low Carbon Energy (G&LCE) group. He was previously at Phillips 66 where he served as Director in Midstream Business Development and was responsible for leading several major commercial projects, including the commercialization of the Bayou Bridge Pipeline and Phillips 66's first pipeline in the Eagleford shale basin in South Texas.

Ulises also spent time in consulting with Schlumberger Business Consulting (now Accenture) helping develop strategy and participating in transformational change engagements with Fortune 100 clients. He started his career in project engineering with ExxonMobil Pipeline and The Dow Chemical Company.

Ulises earned an MBA from The Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University in Evanston, IL, and attained both bachelor's and master's degrees in mechanical engineering from Stanford University in Palo Alto, CA.

Ulises was born and raised in Freeport, TX, and currently resides in the Sugarland area with his wife and three children. Ulises has been a Member of TDECU in Lake Jackson for more than 20 years.
